KELLEY STARS AS CAMBRIDGE LATIN DOWNS ARLINGTON

Cambridge Latin Pitcher Strikes Out Twenty Arlington Men As Visitors Shut Out Locals At Spy Pond Field Yesterday Afternoon — Cambridge Scores Four Runs In Hard Fought Game—Weidow Works Hard on Mound for Arlington High

Facing an unbeatable pitcher, the Arlington High baseball team met its first defeat of the season at Spy Pond field yesterday afternoon. A few weeks ago, the team was plucked by Letty "Mugsy" Kelley of Cambridge Latin and it was a wonder that as many hits were knocked out. This does not in any way mean that the Arlington team cannot hit, but that any team facing Kelley would have had just as much trouble getting as many hits. The score was 4 to 0.

In the first inning there were two beautiful catches, by Crovo to retire the Latin team, with another out at first. The Arlington team had even a shorter duration at bat when Kelley sat them down one, two, three. The second started out right for Arling-

FASHION SHOW TO BE HIGHLIGHT OF LOCAL TRADE SHOW IN MAY

Plans are going steadily forward for the Arlington Trade Show at Robbins Memorial town hall on May 10, 11 and 12. Walter G. Fields, president of the Hingham Chamber of Commerce who is managing the Arlington show for the local Chamber of Commerce indicated yesterday that the show would surpass anything of its kind ever offered Arlington people.

A fashion show of both ladies' children's and men's wear will be one of the highlights on the three evenings of the show. Frank Reidy's Men's Shop of East Arlington will display the very latest styles in men's wear on a group of living models while Whalon's Specialty Shop also of Arlington, in cooperation with Nita Moses' will supply the very latest fashions to be worn by attractive young ladies. The Nita Moses' shop will display the hats at the show.

Up to yesterday afternoon, according to Mr. Fields, over fifty booths had been taken by exhibitors, who will include the leading merchants and business men of Arlington. Only five more spaces are available. These merchants will offer hundreds of dollars of worthwhile prizes to lucky ticket holders in addition to attractive samples of all kinds. Each booth will carry a number as well as the name of the firm so that visitors can readily identify each exhibit. As an incentive to exhibitors, the Arlington Chamber of Commerce will award five beautiful prize ribbons to the outstanding exhibitors. The booths are expected to present a vivid picture that will please the eye. Considerable electric wiring will be necessary to supply current for the thousands of multicolored lights and electrical appliances on display at the show. This work will be carried out entirely by Gahn & Erickson, Arlington electrical contractors.

In addition to exhibits of merchandise, refreshments will be served in the right corridor of the Robbins Memorial auditorium. Delicious sandwiches, of all kinds, dainty desserts and coffee will be served to visitors.

Special admission prices for children during the afternoon will be ten cents. The show will take place both afternoons and evenings of May 10, 11 and 12.

FIREMAN IS INJURED AT ARLINGTON FIRE

One fireman was injured and several hundred dollars damages resulted in a fire at 27 Elmwood street, Arlington, yesterday afternoon shortly before three o'clock. John Beasley of Engine company at the Highlands station received a bad cut to his hand and was treated by Dr. Klingman, department physician.

The duplex house which was damaged by the blaze is owned by J. B. Richardson, of 30 Ashland street and is occupied by Rere Dockham and Stratford B. Allen, with their respective families.

The blaze was discovered by Mr. Dockham who was confined to his bed with sickness. Awakened by the crackling of flames in the attic, Mr. Dockham called his wife who immediately notified fire headquarters. An alarm was then transmitted from Box 842 and Engine 2, 3, Ladder 2 and the special service car responded to the scene.

Arriving at the house, firemen discovered that the fire which was mostly confined to the attic had broken through a door leading to the second floor of the Dockham apartment. The house was filled with smoke but all occupants, including Mr. Dockham who had to leave his bed, were able to get out safely. The blaze did not reach the Allen side of the house since both apartments are separated by a brick wall.

Considerable damage was caused by fire, smoke and water and it was not until 3.55 p. m. that the recall was sounded. The loss is covered by insurance. The occupants were later able to return to the house.

SUGGEST TWELVE WAYS TO MAKE VISITORS FEEL AT HOME HERE

Twelve ways in which New England communities can maintain and increase their share in New England's annual $500,000,000 recreational income have been suggested by the Recreational Development Committee of the New England Council, Colonel William A. Barren of Crawford Notch, N. H., chairman of the committee, announced at Council headquarters here yesterday.

"This year it is especially important that the summer visitor be made welcome and his enjoyment facilitated in every way," Colonel Barren declared in a statement to community organizations. Emphasizing the value of the recreational industry to New England, he pointed out that New England's normal income from this source is estimated at $500,000,000 every year.

Records of 1931 show that the recreational income is much more stable than that from other industries under depression conditions. Colonel Barren declared.

This year the New England Council, through the Recreational Development Committee, is vigorously promoting the development of the recreational industry in a difficult period by launching the first national All New England recreational advertising campaign ever conducted. The Council is distributing, free to all inquirers, a booklet entitled "Your

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL WILL BENEFIT FROM CIRCUS PERFORMANCE

A committee of which Mrs. S. Huntington Wolcott is chairman is sponsoring the first night program of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's combined shows at the Boston Garden on Monday evening, May 2. The entire profits of which performance will be given to the Children's Hospital.

The Boston engagement is the only one that the "big show" will play in New England this season so this is the only opportunity that circus lovers will have of seeing this show.

The opening night of the circus is always a gala occasion and this year it will be particularly festive because of the charity which is sponsoring the affair, Mrs. Wolcott.

The old abandoned fire engine house at Park avenue and Paul Revere road, Arlington, is being demolished. For years it housed, a part of the fire apparatus, and was a very attractive place. Then the town motorized the department, and the house went into disuse. The place was made over for a market, and steadily ran down. Frequent fires in the building did not do it any good, and finally the place was unfit to rent. The town will erect a branch library on the site in the near future. George Johnson was given the contract to tear the old building down and clear up the lot.

NURSES' ASSOCIATION DRIVE TO CONTINUE FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Announcement Is Made Yesterday—Committee Reports $1800 Turned In Thus Far — Must Raise $5000 Before Saturday — Many Contributions Not Yet Reported—Drive Was To Have Ended Last Saturday Night—Many Canvassers Working

The annual Arlington Visiting Nurses' Association canvass to raise funds for the present year has been extended for another week and will not come to a close until next Saturday night. The drive was to have closed at the end of the first week but it was announced yesterday that only $1800 had been turned in by canvassers to the Metonomy Trust company up to yesterday afternoon. The Trust company is taking care of all contributions during the drive and will turn over the money to the association at the close of the campaign.

Although only $1800 has been turned in and the goal has been set at $5000 it was pointed out yesterday evening that there were still many contributions which have been collected but have not as yet been turned in by the canvassers who are still working in their particular sections. Due to inclement weather at the very start of the drive, the canvassers were necessarily slowed up at the outset. However, the committee in charge of the campaign is confident that the necessary funds will be raised by the end of this week.

A group of Boston University student volunteers are spending part of their spare time to serve as canvassers in the "Find a job" campaign sponsored by the Boston Emergency Committee on Unemployment. George Greenlaw of Arlington is among them. Active students from the various departments have already signed up for the work under the leadership of Prof. Warren T. Powell, director of student counseling and religious activities, who is serving as a contact between the students and the Boston committee.

Among the students who are serving as canvassers and who are organizing more students for the work, are Roger Blanchard of Brockton and Wilbur Irving of Somerville, at the college of liberal arts; Gertrude Don Dero of Williamstown, Conn., and Katherine Moran of North Clarendon, Vt., at the school of education; and Margaret Wayne of Girardville, Pa., at the college of music. Mary Marsh of Brookline represents the graduate school; Frank Philbrook of Randolph represents the medical school. Hyman Tamkin of Jamaica Plain is in charge of the work at the school of law.

Roger Hardy of Lowell, president of the B. U. college of business administration senior class heads the campaign in the college. He is assisted by Gertrude Meade of Newtonville. Other students in that department who have signed up for canvassing include John H. Anderson of Winthrop, Ralph Allen of Worcester, and George Greenlaw, of Arlington.

Selectmen Turn Down Petition For Repair Shop

The Arlington board of selectmen has turned down the petition of James H. Doyle seeking to operate a repair shop on Beck road, near the railroad line in Arlington. The refusal to grant the petition follows a hearing at which several Arlington residents who live across the proposed repair shop appeared before the board and vigorously voiced disapproval to the shop.

Mr. Doyle's intention was to use one stall of a twenty-five-car community garage on Beck road as a shop. The owner of the garage appeared before the board in favor of granting the petition but residents across the street were overwhelmingly opposed.

A common victualler's license has been granted by the board of selectmen to the new Locatelli's restaurant, near the Capitol theatre in East Arlington.

St. Clement's High nine has a tough assignment to face when it meets the defending champion, Our Lady's of Newton, in a Catholic League game on Trum Field tomorrow afternoon. The Newton boys have won their first two games of the season, socking Cathedral and St. Mary's of Waltham, and are holding the lead together with the Immaculate Conception nine of Revere.

St. Clement's showed a marked improvement both offensively and defensively in defeating Mission High of Roxbury on the holiday morning, 8-5. With Al Lazewick in the box it was an entirely different story than in the opener when St. Mary's High of Brookline took a 16-4 decision. Lazewick also continued his fierce batting, helping along a few runs with a pair of singles.

Lazewick will again start on the mound tomorrow with Eddie Powers, sensational on the gridiron last fall, going behind the bat. The rest of the lineup will remain unchanged.

The standing of the nine teams in the league follows:

Our Lady's 2 0 1.000

Braves Play Home Games Next Week

BILL HARGRAVE
Braves' Backstop

Starting Sunday, April 23rd, the Braves will entertain Philadelphia and New York at Braves Field and then hit the Western trail, so New England fans who desire to see the warriors in action this month must trek to the Wigwam during the coming week.

The schedule does not favor the Braves this season. Out of the first 36 games only 10 are scheduled for the home grounds. Big league ball clubs, as a rule, play their best game at home, and find it difficult to break even on the road. Therefore the Braves, handicapped at the start, must do better than usual during the first five weeks of the campaign in order to maintain a favorable position in the race.

The much improved Phillies, headed by "Chuck Klein" will meet the Braves Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and then will come the Giants for games Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Giants are picked by most experts to give the Cardinals a run for the championship this season.

There is no doubt about the Giants being stronger. They have threatened to break loose during the past three seasons but injuries held them back. If Hugh Clegg remains healthy the chances of the Giants taking part in the World Series will be greatly enhanced.

Everybody concedes that the Braves are stronger than last year. The acquisition of Fred Leach will make them stronger in the outfield. Art Shires is sure to help at first base. He is taking his baseball seriously this year.

Fred Knote is the best third baseman the Braves have had since Tony Bockel was stationed at that corner. In addition to being a polished fielder he is a capable base runner. The only question seems to be his hitting. If he comes through at bat the Braves will have a worthy addition at the hot corner.

The big cry at the wigwam for several years has been lack of support behind the bat. Al Spohrer has been the only catcher who would be depended upon, and he was forced to work so often that he weakened under the strain.

All Eyes on Hargrave

The acquisition of Bill Hargrave probably means more to the club than anything else. He not only has shown that he is a good receiver but he looks up as a potential threat at the bat. He showed this the day the Braves dropped off at Washington, faced Marberry and Crowder, the Senators' aces, knocked in five runs, scored two others, and was the big factor in the Tribe's 10 to 9 victory.

Right now Bill is striving harder than ever to bring down his poundage. He packs on weight easily in the winter and has to struggle in the spring. He has more than the ordinary incentive this season because he realizes he has an excellent chance to become the first string catcher of the Braves. That is an opportunity he lacked at Detroit and Washington and as a result the urge was not there to break through. He continued to friends this spring that this was the big chance he was looking for and he did not intend to mull it.

Leo Mangum and Walter Betts seem to have the necessary stuff to make them regular members of the pitching corps. It is seldom that a ball club adds two strong pitchers in one season and the Braves believe they have been fortunate this year. These two twirlers will come in mighty handy later on when double headers pile up and every member of the slinging corps must be ready for action.

With numbers on their backs, thus being the first club in the National League to carry these large identification tags, and with more color presented a stronger offense and defense, the Braves hope to make marked progress this season.

BUILD NOW — RESTORE PROSPERITY

Business men at Muncie, a typical Indiana small city, have a plan for luring dollars out of teacups and socks, and putting them to work making jobs for the jobless, better homes, and steadier business for the retailer. The idea is to call attention of citizens through an organized campaign to the fact that it is their self interest to repair, remodel, and modernize homes now when labor and material costs are favorable. Arlington folks might well consider it.

It is a simple plan, but it works. An investigator for the Rotarian magazine learned that within two weeks after the publicity campaign started in April last year, unemployment in the building trades had shrunk from 80 to 20 per cent, while calls on relief agencies had dropped by more than half. Similarly favorable results have followed more recent efforts.

"Not only that," the magazine's survey reports, "but retailers were benefited too. Corner grocers sold more bread and beans and ham; dairymen, more milk. Dry goods merchants noted that assets long frozen in accounts to melt. One dealer in building supplies publicly declared that 15 per cent of his business could be directly traced to the campaign."

An initial $2,000 budget was raised in Muncie, all of which was spent for newspaper advertising under direction of the Chamber of Commerce. But that $2,000 released more than $100,000 in wages for the unemployed which, comments the magazine's representative, "remembering this is not the age of miracles, compares rather favorably with the loaves and fishes story of New Testament recollection."

The Muncie Plan did not aim to a sudden building boom, but rather a steady development through home improvements. The slogan, "Let those who can afford it do the thing that ought to be done," was reiterated in newspaper publicity and in speeches before service clubs, women's clubs and other organizations.

The economic soundness of the Muncie idea is rooted in two facts: that the building and materials industry ranks first in America in point of men employed; and that 60 to 85 per cent of the money spent on reconditioning existing structures goes to labor.

Now, as after the war, building is behind normal needs. To stimulate reconditioning of existing structures will, it is believed, restore activity in the building trades and industry without inducing the frantic over-building of 1923-28 which in some degree, was responsible for the crash of 1929.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY RED PAINT

For a number of years a national Fire Prevention Week has been an annual event. During that seven-day period of concentrated activity it has been demonstrated that the nation's useless fire waste can be greatly reduced.

In conjunction with fire prevention work, proper apparatus and personnel to subdue fires, once they are started, are indispensable.

The people have become accustomed to demanding and receiving the latest and best improvements in all kinds of public services which they use in daily life. In contrast to this they are often glaringly lax in demanding proper community protection. Apparently what is everybody's business is nobody's business.

No where is this better illustrated than in the lack of modern high grade fire fighting apparatus in rural communities and cities.

Local citizens who would look agast at driving an automobile ten or even five years old, complacently trust their homes and business property to fire fighting apparatus fifteen or twenty years old. All fire apparatus looks alike to them when it is painted red, whether it is an up-to-date well engineered piece of machinery made to fight fire without interruption until the last spark is out, or an out-of-date, worn-out or cheaply assembled unit, apt to break down at a critical moment when a whole town is in danger.

When every home in our land, and the lives of loved ones, depend for safety on fire prevention, or, in case a fire starts, on instantly available fire protection of the highest quality, to reduce damage to a minimum, it is the height of folly to trust our possessions to antiquated or poorly trained or under-manned fire departments.

Satisfactory community fire protection is everybody's business and we cannot shirk our individual responsibility or permit ourselves to be fooled by "red paint" without endangering our own lives and possessions.

KELLEY STARS

vanced Hopkins to third. The next man was retired and Powers came up to bang out a single and add Hopkins to the scoring list. The remaining two were struck out.

Arlington made its first hit of the game when Captain Clarke bunted safely. This was of no use as the next and final man struck out. The Arlington team began to show a little of the old fight in this half and retired the opponents in short order with a nice stop by Weidow and a smart play by Buckley. In the latter half of the fourth Greeley singles to center and stole second but that was the story for the inning. The fifth inning was just usual. The Latin team went out fairly in usual order except by an error on Greeley. It was the same old story for Arlington's half. One, two, three. With two errors on Lane, Latin got two men on base, but by clever work, more scoring was stopped. In the next inning a few more Latin men got on base by a hit and an error but again scoring was stopped by a lucky hit to Merrill who fielded nicely and threw to first for the third out. Another hit, the third of the game by Arlington, was registered by Crovo. Harding reached first on fielder's choice, two out. Kelley looked things over and struck the next man out. The final score of the game by Latin was made in the eighth when one was given a base on balls and McManus singled scoring Powers on a close play at home. Mahoney substituted in the game and showed good stuff especially in this inning. The ninth was uneventful for Latin. Kelley put a little more on the ball and the Arlington boys never saw the ball. Final score 4 to 0.

It was a pitcher's battle all the way through and but for the errors on the Arlington team the score would have been quite different. Weidow pitched almost as good a game as Kelley but did not have the support that the latter had. Kelley led with twenty strikeouts while Weidow trailed with thirteen strikeouts, which is a good number in any ball game. Arlington was only able to find Kelley for three hits, while Cambridge banged out nine hits.

Do You Know

That the cost of a 3-minute telephone call by number from Boston to New York is only a dollar at day rates? And that the evening rate from 7 to 8.30 p.m. drops to eighty-five cents, and the night rate to sixty cents?

By road, New York is about 240 miles. By telephone, it's only a few seconds. And the cost is surprisingly small.

Albert Biswanger, 366 Salem street, Medford.

Little Miss Papkee, 56 Monument street, W. Medford.

Little Miss Papkee, mentioned above, called in the office of Past Potentate Haskell in the Mercury building the other day, with her mother, and presented him with 40 pounds of silver paper. That's a lot of tinioil.

Letters are coming in much better at Station WLOE from the children and adults who enjoy the Daddy Sunshine club program. Every Monday night at 7:30. These letters are indeed very welcome and in no small way show the officials at the station that the club is popular. So, if you feel the urge, drop a letter to the station and tell them you enjoy the program.

Outside letters approving the program were received at the station yesterday from Arthur Brown, 35 Deering street, Reading; A. B. Amerling, 32 Borchers street, East Boston; Mrs. Matthew Kimbrough, 143 Hancock street, N. Quincy; Alma Ciampa, 210 Bremen street, E. Boston; Mary Connors, 41 Dimick street, Somerville; Catherine Daly, 75 Perrin street, Roxbury.

Plays Harmonica

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I listen to your program on WLOE and like it. I would like to join your club. I played my harmonica on WLOE one Saturday. I would like to sing on one of your programs. My sister wants to join your club, too. I danced at the Medford theatre for Mal. I have a big box of silver for you. Where can I bring it?

Ruth Holland
35 Myrtle Street
Medford, Mass.

My sister's name is Eleanor Holland

You may send or bring the tinioil to the Mercury office. "Mal" will inform you about the program. Ruth. We are out of buttons again Ruth. Ask your sister to write and state she wishes to become a member.

Welcome Cambridge

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I have been listening to your Monday night programs. I would like to become a member of your club. I am 14 years old and would like to sing over the radio some Monday night.

Metropolitan Theatre
Bills Four Mills Bros.

Presenting the Four Mills Brothers IN PERSON on the stage, together with Claudette Colbert and Edmund Lowe in "Misleading Lady" on the screen, and a miniature revue "Manhattan" also on the stage, the Metropolitan again offers this week a big headliner program.

The Four Mills Brothers are billed as "Four Men and a Guitar," and to radio fans in particular this is necessary. It is unquestionably true that in the past year this quartet has become better known than any other attraction on the air. They imitate perfectly various musical instruments, and are literally a "band without instruments."—the only instrument being used is the guitar previously mentioned.

"Misleading Lady" is based on the big stage success of that name which played New York for many months, and features Claudette Colbert and Edmund Lowe with a cast which includes Stuart Erwin, Robert Strange, and many other favorites of stage and screen. In the story, Claudette Colbert plays Lowe for a dupe to make him propose in order to win a wager. He retaliates by kidnapping her and breaking her spirit with the help of chains and an escaped lunatic. Before the final scene is allowed to disclose an all's-well-and-happy solution, a reporter, two drunks with a mystery they never quite spill, an avenging lover, and two other visitors from the asylum, are involved in complications that transpire in a mountain rendezvous far from law and order, telegraph or the railway. The story is filled with breathless, amusing events.

On the stage in "MANHATTAN" revue will be seen and heard, Jack Sidney, "Sidelights of New York"; Swor and Goode, black-faced comedians; Wilfred Du Bois, Jack Lester, Lucille and the Sunkist Beauties.

Fabien Sevitzky conducts the Grand Orchestra in an overture of Italian music.

Ranny Weeks appears in his fourteenth week with a repertoire of negro spirituals; and Arthur Martel presents a new organ number "Budding Song-Smiths."

Beginning April 29th, Anna May Wong appears in person at the Metropolitan Theatre, and on the same bill, Arthur Lake, like wise a stage and screen star will be seen. The feature will be "Man Wanted," with Kay Francis. May 6th Bing Crosby appears in person, and on May 13, the Metropolitan presents Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians.

University Theatre
Offers "Carnival Boat"

Bill Boyd as a young lumberman and Ginger Rogers as the star of a carnival show-boat troupe from the romantic duo in "Carnival Boat" which starts Sunday for four days at the University Theatre. Bill made love to the fiery-haired Ginger in "Suicide Fleet," but in "Carnival Boat," his love for the little entertainer plays a much bigger part in the story. His father's opposition to his affection for Ginger brings about some of the biggest dramatic scenes in the picture. The romance between Boyd and Ginger is set against a fast moving background of action in a big logging camp and a show boat. Thrills are injected with the breaking up of a log-jam, the wrecking of a heavily loaded, runaway logging train, and Bill's trip across the mountain peaks on a "high-line" with only a log between him and a 250 foot drop to oblivion.

"Fireman Save My Child" the companion feature, is Joe E. Brown's latest comedy.

"The Passionate Plumber" which starts Thursday, brings a group of funsters in what is said to be the spiciest and most amusing comedy yet turned out by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Buster Keaton has the title role and further hilarity is guaranteed by the presence in leading roles of the inimitable Jimmy "Sho-nozzle" Durante in a characterization reported to be even funnier than that of his "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" and the riotous Polly Moran as his consort. This Parisian bedroom farce concerns a bungling plumber who comes to a lady's apartment to fix a leaky pipe but remains to repair a broken heart. The comedian's experiences in a gambling casino, his masquerade as a woman when caught in a compromising position in the heroine's bedroom and his hilarious attempts to get rid of a small but nasty little dog are high spots of this diverting film.

"Hotel Continental," the companion feature, was inspired by the destruction of the famous Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to make way for a modern office-building. The plot is concerned with the dramatic events that took place within its walls on the last night of its existence, when sentimental New York gathered to pay its tribute. Peggy Shannon and Theodore von Eltz have the two leading roles, with able support from Alan Mowbray, J. Farrell MacDonald, Ethel Clayton and Henry B. Walthall.

TICKETS FOR

Dr. F. L. Eames and Robert Dutton have been booked as the official trouble makers for the evening, all decked out in boy blouses, knee breeches in everyting.

James Bailey as a genteel Kentucky Colonel and H. A. Phinney (his wife will lend dignity to the assemblage).

B. E. Cass will be just a demure old fashioned girl with hoop skirts and sweet smile and will delight with a little song. Try to picture Arthur Sampson in a low cut evening gown, singing the part of Madam Schumann-Heink, the great opera singer, can he sing? He will give you the surprise of your life.

The Twin Cousins Ernest Davis and Arthur Yeames will be a darling pair of little girls as they skip down the aisle, curls waving in the breeze.

Wait until you see and hear Frank Harwood as Aunt Mabel Henderson singing the "Last Rose of Summer" in a high falsetto voice, and Abbie Goldberg (Ray voice), confirms the fact that she looks like it. Another serious moment is when Abbie tries to sell a pair of trousers to Judge John Brackett who as the poor Scotch uncle has nothing to wear but a pair of kilts. These are only a few of the many handsome actors and lovely "actresses" who will take part in this screamingly funny affair.

Reserved seats went on sale yesterday morning at Blakes Candy Store. While there were a great many tickets sold there are still choice seats obtainable. A good healthy laugh is the sure cure for those "depression Blues" so procure your tickets at once.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Loring Young, Jr.

The Children's Hospital has given, for many years, signal service in healing children and in saving their lives. Though the bulk of their work is done for the children of Boston, they receive patients from all over New England, from every State in the Union, from Canada, and from countries beyond the sea. No bar of race, creed, or color has ever been set, nor has ability to pay been a necessity for admission. Children from the homes of the poor have received care at the hands of the same trained physicians as serve the children of the rich. As long as room can be found, a sick child is given all that medical science and human kindness can do to bring it health and happiness.

During the past year five thousand nine hundred and thirty children were treated at the hospital, and sixty-four thousand seven hundred and forty visits were made by the clinic. It is to raise funds to carry on this work that the Welfare Committee has taken over the opening performance of the circus and every effort is being expended by the committee in charge to make this event one that will be long remembered by those who attend. No advance will be made in the prices of the tickets for this performance so that if you are planning to attend the circus this year you can enjoy the performance, and at the same time, do your bit for this most worthy cause by attending on Monday evening, May 2nd.

SUGGESTS TWELVE WAYS

New England Vacation—Where to Go, What It Will Cost.

"New England communities profit from the coming of vacationists in cash income, taxable wealth, and the sale of products of farm and factory," Colonel Barron said. "People come to New England because they find it attractive. It is the business of the individual community to keep it so. As guests as well as customers, visitors expect to find New England making an effort to please them."

The suggestions which the Recreational Development Committee of the Council has submitted to every New England community follow:

1. Welcome The Visitor: Let the visitor know he is approaching your community, whether he comes by rail, highway, or air. If the WELCOME sign needs painting, paint it or tear it down. Don't have one unless the community is prepared to back it up by word and deed.
2. Give The Visitor A Good Impression Of Your Community: Paint up and clean up. Now is the time to modernize homes and buildings. It will provide immediate opportunities for employment.
3. Be Courteous To The Visitor: He has come here at New England's invitation. It is good business as well as good manners for every citizen of the community to be polite and cordial. Impress attendants at garages, filling stations and convenience stores with the importance of courtesy whether a purchase is made or not. Particularly impress upon traffic officers that the visitor is handicapped by ignorance of local laws and regulations; that his good will is worth more to the community than any revenue from fines.
4. Make It Easy For The Visitor To Get Where He Wants To Go: See that direction signs at the approaches to the community are in good condition. Provide plenty of legible markers to indicate the best routes through the community. Plan repair work so as to cause minimum inconvenience to visitors. A good information booth well operated will pay for itself quickly in increased business and good will. Encourage local business establishments to act as volunteer sources of information.
5. Give The Visitor A Chance To Buy In Your Community: Provide places for the visitor to park his car. Put up signs to tell him how to find them. Encourage merchants to stock, feature and display merchandise that appeals to recreational visitors.
6. Treat The Visitor Fairly: The overcharged visitor not only never returns; he warns his friends to stay away.
7. Tell The Visitor What He Wants To Know: The visitor comes prepared to be interested in New England's attractions, advantages and products. Tell him about them, help them find what they want. If it isn't in your community, send him to another community, and let him know where your neighbors will do as much for you. Tell the visitor about New England's agricultural, industrial and commercial opportunities, as well as her recreational advantages. Urge your manufacturers to put signs on their factories large enough to be seen. The visitor uses New England products. He wants to see where they are made. Show them to him.
8. Be Cheerful To The Visitor: He comes here to enjoy himself. If you can't be optimistic about your business and your community, for goodness sake don't knock them.
9. Give The Visitor New England: He wants New England scenery, New England villages, New England cooking, New England hospitality. Give him those things—not what he can get in other parts of the country.
10. Feature New England Dishes: Encourage local restaurants and hotels to feature typical New England dishes on their menus.
11. Advertise Recreational Travel: Encourage local business firms to use advertising space and sales literature to feature New England's and local recreational advantages and attractions, and, in general, to tie in their publicity with the recreational advertising of the New England Council, State Publicity Bureaus, summer hotels, transportation companies, and other agencies or interests.
12. Remember That The Visitor Is Both Guest and Customer.

To Educate Public In Quality Values

New York—A broad, educational campaign to forward the sale of style merchandise of better quality and values, and to improve trade practices in its advertising and selling, was adopted today at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Quality Maintenance League at No. 200 Madison avenue.

The program, which was outlined by Mr. Julius Forstmann, President of the Forstmann Woolen Company, and chairman of the League, proposes the use of motion pictures, radio, fashion exhibits, and the co-operation of important fashion and trade publications which are allied in the movement. The League includes in its membership manufacturers of woollens, silks, velvets, millinery, handbags, hosiery and underwear, as well as editors and educators. The full co-operation and participation of leading retail stores throughout the country will be sought in the undertaking.

The objects of the League as set forth in the by-laws which were adopted are stated as follows:

1. To encourage the establishment and maintenance of high standards of quality in style merchandise.

2. To seek by co-operation among its members continuous improvement in design and quality in style merchandise.

3. To inform the public of the essential desirability and the intrinsic value of better quality in style and merchandise.

4. To prevent unauthorized or unfair copying of original ideas or designs in individual manufacturer's products.

5. To use all means that may be offered for the prevention of falsity in advertising and selling, and for the discouragement of untruths of quality or which tend to tear down or destroy high standards of quality of which tend to deceive the public as to values or desirability of quality in style merchandise.

6. To use all means that may be offered for the promotion of ethical standards in American business, and generally to do such acts and things as may serve to accomplish any of the aforementioned objects.

In explaining the necessity for the program of the League, Mr. Forstmann said:—

To Educate Public

"The principal, outstanding purpose of this organization should be to educate the buying public of the country regarding the basic values of good quality and good style in merchandise. This education should be directed toward persuading the public to purchase merchandise on the basis of quality and service, rather than of price, and through this persuasion, lessen the competitive price-pressure to which the retailer is subject today, at the expense of good quality."

"If such an educational campaign can be conducted successfully, it will result in the retail stores being able, as in former years, to display and sell a wider variety of merchandise of good quality and style."

"It must be strongly emphasized that the purpose of this organization is not to raise prices or to limit competition. It is intended to further the sale of merchandise of integrity in quality and style at the lowest legitimate prices compatible with values. Its program must be so organized that it co-operates to the fullest degree with all efforts of similar character being made by retailers, so as to assist them in selling better and more serviceable merchandise at a legitimate profit. Its accomplishment will go far toward stabilizing responsible industries, employing thousands of people, and representing an investment of many millions of dollars. At the same time, it will render a decided service to the buying public by insuring them better values for their money. Mr. P. A. O'Connell, President of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and of Slater's of Boston, in an address on April 1st, expressed succinctly the importance of an understanding by the public of the difference between values and prices when he said:

"At a time when consumers are having to stretch every dollar as far as it can go, they cannot afford to buy poor merchandise because it does not give service. To purchase merchandise that is not serviceable is expensive at any price. Under no circumstances does the difference in cost compare with the sacrifice and in utility. The consumers' best safeguard today is to deal with reputable stores and to buy merchandise of known quality. The comparatively small difference in the first cost is the best investment one can possibly make."

General Committee

The General Committee of the League includes: Julius Forstmann, President, Forstmann Woolen Company, New York; Henry Stehli, Vice-President, Stehli Silks, New York; H. H. Schell, Vice-President, Sidney Blumenthal & Company, New York; Frank Cheney, General Sales Manager, Cheney Silk Co., New York; J. Laird Schober, Laird Schober & Company, Philadelphia; Malcolm G. Van Arsdale, President, Van

Medford Choir To Present Operetta At Roberts Junior

On Friday evening, April 29th, the joint Senior and Adult Choirs of the First Baptist church will present the "Belle of Barcelona", an operetta in three acts, with orchestral accompaniment at the Roberts Junior High school. The cast of 60, including several Boston soloists is under the direction of Herbert M. Gale, who has been director of the Junior, Senior and Adult choirs of the First Baptist Church for the past three years. Mr. Gale is assisted by Miss Dorothy White, well known as a coach of amateur theatricals, Mrs. Dora Goldsmith, teacher of dancing, Miss Edith Osgood, pianist and accompanist.

Among the Medford Singers prominent in the cast are Miss Helen Thompson, who is to be "Margarita, Belle of Barcelona," Miss Claudia Churchill, who takes the double role of "Mercedes, Margarita's sister," and "Carmen, a dancer." Miss Marguerite MacLeod, Thomas Johnston, Miss Mildred Dunbar, J. Wallace Buchanan, and Harold Gillis, who is to be "Emilio, a toreador."

A visit to historic old Spain, the land of sunshine and song, tamborines and castanets, dashing señoritas, and thrilling romances, gallant seniors and gay toreadors, an Irishman abroad, an English governess in trouble, an American lieutenant in love, and the Belle of Barcelona engaged to a scheming nobleman, beautiful costumes, appropriate scenery, characteristic music, colorful and spectacular, dramatic scenes and humorous situations all tend to make the two-hour performance a most enjoyable one.

A JUVENILE STAR

Norman Phillips Jr., one of the younger film players who seems to follow in his father's footsteps, has been cast by Universal for the role of Carruthers in "Brown of Culver." Norman's father was well on the way to a most successful screen career, when he was called by the "Great Father."

Upon completion of the picture the fourteen year old will step into the leading juvenile role in the Lewis-Warner musical comedy "Hell's Holiday."
